NHS Greater Glasgow & Clyde Health Board, the Golden Jubilee National Hospital, The University of Glasgow, Scottish Ambulance Service and AstraZeneca are engaged in a Joint Working project called ‘ACS Registry’ project

This project will run from June 2016 to May 2019 and all parties have contributed resources for this initiative.

The aims and objectives of this joint working project are to:

To deliver Real World Evidence to support reduction of mortality and service improvement for patients with CVD in NHS GGC through the further development of the NHS Glasgow ACS e-registry.

Objectives

- Complete a service evaluation focusing upon the delivery of 2 years of Acute Coronary Syndrome (ACS) services managed across NHS GGC and the GJNH.
- Identify data gaps in existing e-registry and seek solutions to improve completeness and richness of the dataset
- Conduct additional analysis and reporting of the data to deliver further information on outcomes and patient characteristics that has clinical relevance and can be used to directly impact delivery of care (PhD student)
- To secure support for e-registry as an ongoing, longitudinal research and quality improvement capability
